News of Manchester

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, No. 1102 Hill Street.

While seven-elevens were falling from the roofs of the city, the only craps-shooters, assembled near where the railroad track crosses Clifton Street, collected money and fled by one of the cars when Mrs. Carter, but was ruined in the accident for further use as a trotter. The case was amicably settled out of court, the amount paid not being announced.

Snow Drives Hobbies to Shelter. Two regular tramps, driven to desperation by the heavy fall of snow last night, applied at the station-house for a berth until morning. They were allowed to sleep in one of the cells, but on being asked to "pack along" this morning or go to work. Outside of this, the snow did little harm. Traffic on the street-car lines was not blocked, and the city was not inconvenienced.

Persons and Briefs. Miss Hazel Beattie, who has been sick for the past week, is rapidly improving.

Mrs. Bernard Robertson, who has been visiting her sister in Lunenburg county, has returned to her home in the city.

Mrs. H. C. Harding has returned to her home in Wilmington, after a visit to her sister, Mrs. T. E. Burton, in this city.

Mrs. B. M. Robertson has entirely recovered from her recent spell of sickness. Mr. Robertson is improving, but still confined to his room.

Misses Fattie and Annie Day, of Lynchburg, are the guests of their sister, Mrs. T. M. Fenley.

B. W. Atkins, of Belmont, Orange county, is visiting his son, A. Clarence Atkins, of 1518 Porter Street.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Carter, of 506 West 10th St., is improving.

On next Thursday night the Meade Memorial choir will have an evening of hymns, at the Meade Memorial Church.

The Light Committee will meet to-night at 7 o'clock. The meeting is important as a number of bills are to be passed.

Rev. George T. Forrester, pastor of Dexter Street Methodist Church, will attend the Anti-Saloon League Convention.

At Central Church last night the usual service was held. Mr. Peters preached the sermon.

W. J. Carter, of this city, yesterday received a check from the Atlantic Coast Line Railway in payment of insurance.

The domestic affairs this week will be surcharged with patriotism. The sentiment, newly aroused by the approach from the East of the battle ship, will be the inspiration of countless orations in Friday, when the one-hundredth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln will be observed.

Daily wireless messages will tell of the proudest naval force afloat, hurrying to a home port, where will be found a cure for the home-sickness reported to be rampant among officers and men.

A busy week is in promise for Congress. Beginning on Monday, under a general order for a suspension of the House, the calendar, the House Tuesday probably will pass to a discussion of the President's course in vetoing the census bill. It is confidently expected that the Committee on Census will recommend that it be passed at an immediate effort thus to dispose of it will be made. The general opinion is that the committee's recommendations will be adopted by the House.

On Wednesday the House, it is expected, will dispose of the bill providing for the Agricultural Department. This will be followed by the Indian appropriation bill, which the House will consider tomorrow if it passes before the close of the week.

If time permits the House will give attention during the week to the penal code bill, an effort to amend which will be made by the adoption of legislation on the liquor question. Sharp antagonism to the amendment may result in its failure either in the House or in conference.

The Senate will return to the appropriation calendar Tuesday or Wednesday. The naval bill, with its two big battleships and other provisions for the increase of the navy, will be reported early in the week. It is probable that the conference report on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill will be made during the week.

If opportunity permits, Senator Carter will call up his postal savings bank bill, and it is probable that there will also be spasmodic efforts to secure the passage of the bill for the relief of South Carolina. His most enthusiastic supporters are, however, becoming convinced that all attempts in this direction will be futile.

At 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon the House will hold its regular quadrennial joint session for the purpose of verifying the count of the electoral vote for President and Vice-President of the United States.

CAT IN TROUBLE. New York's City Hall Pet Brings Canary to Mayor.

NEW YORK, February 7.—Joe Gans, the City Hall cat, protégé of Marty Keese, the janitor, got into trouble again. Not since he stole the luncheon of Sergeant Moran from the police station has he been so busy. He visited that part of the building until yesterday.

One of the policemen on reserve had bought canary in one of those tiny wooden cages in which they are imprisoned. The cat, who has no other possessions on top of a locker in the back room, Joe Gans, prowling about, heard the bird peep, and investigated.

He evidently calmed the cage over and over in his efforts, for the seed and water vessels were empty, and the bird was half dead with fright when Joe proudly walked on the stairs leading to the Mayor's office and the Governor's room, bearing the little cage in his teeth.

Lieutenant Kennel, the Mayor's body guard, saw Joe and his prize coming, and opened the door leading into the Mayor's office. There were shouts of laughter as the bird was rescued, and Joe, with a "scat," fled down to his throne in the coal hole.

She can go to other balls and parties with only her "lady in waiting."
